This is a notice to all interested renewable energy marketers, who may wish to participate in the New Jersey voluntary Green Power Choice (GPC) Program, as approved by Board Order dated April 13, 2005 (Docket No. EO05010001), that you must notify the Office of Clean Energy of your interest in participating in the GPC Program and apply for a Green Power Marketer (GPM) license within 30 days of this Notice. Please be advised that in order to participate in the Program you must meet all the Green Power Marketer criteria and disclosure rules set forth in Appendix C-Supplier Licensing and Appendix D-Consumer Disclosure Rules in the approved Green Power Choice Program which is available at http://www.bpu.state.nj.us/agendas/docs\_20050324.shtml.

Upon receipt of your letter of intention to participate in the GPC Program, the Office of Clean Energy will send you a confirmation and a GPM License Application. These documents are also available at the BPU Website / Energy Supplier Information at <http://www.state.nj.us/bpu/home/supplierpage.shtml#ElectricSuppliers>. The Board of Public Utilities will review your application and will respond to your request based upon the application and information submitted within 60 days of receiving the application.

Please be advised that upon obtaining a GPM license you will need to sign a billing service agreement with each Electric Distribution Company (EDC) participating in the Program in order to allow you to participate in Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) testing which is scheduled to begin August 15, 2005. In order to meet this deadline you will need to submit your intention to participate in the Program as well as your application for a GPM license and license application fees no later than June 10, 2005.
